Role at Spectator: Managing Editor

I understand that my participation in Spectator is a privilege and that failure to adhere to these standards can result in disciplinary measures, including removal from staff. Staff “well-being” is achieved when conduct standards are upheld. These standards are:

- I am committed to treating each member of Spec with respect
- I am committed to making Spec a comfortable and inclusive environment for everyone
- I am committed to creating and maintaining a healthy and safe workplace in the office and at Spec social gatherings
- I will abide by ethical journalism and business practices
- I understand that Columbia’s policy is that Columbia’s Rules of University Conduct and Columbia’s Gender-based Misconduct Policy apply while I am engaged in Spectator, whether in the office or at an event.
- If I am a member of Spectator’s leadership (CB, MB, or DB), I will attend a semesterly sexual respect workshop led by SVR (or a relevant instructional body) and a semesterly gatekeeper training led by Columbia Health (or a relevant instructional body), both of which will be facilitated by CB.

By signing below, I am certifying that I am not aware of any instance in which I have breached any of these standards since the last time I submitted this form, other than as described in full in the box below (and on an attached sheet, if necessary).

☒ I am a member of Spectator's Managing Board, Corporate Board, or the Board of Trustees, and I consent to making my response and signature below publicly available in hard copy to any members of Spectator's staff who request access.

☐ I am not a member of Spectator's Managing Board, Corporate Board, or the Board of Trustees.

I, Andrew Park (print name), acknowledge and understand the standards and expectations as outlined above and that my responses are accurate.
